The green light is an indicator that the iSight camera is turned on, so if it's on, you must have either Photo Booth, iMovie or iChat enabled.. If the readings aren't accurate it switches back the green LEDs It can also increase the brightness and sampling rate if signals are low.. Sol'n 1: Reset the PRAM Do this by holding command + option + P + R on boot After the PRAM is reset, the computer will restart again, and you can let go of those keys and start it normally.. DO NOT immediately restore your data via Time Machine as prompted during first startup.. This was Monday afternoon when I noticed this and today is Wednesday and I booted the computer up and the GREEN LED was back!!! Does anyone know what this could be or mean? No I do not have any app running to control the camera and if i run an app that uses the camera the screen goes blank where the images should be. b0d43de27c Download Bookwright For Mac Free
